Mr. Howell Gwin

DEDICATED

With Sincere Gratitude and Deep Affection

To one who has been an inspiration to all Wesleyan. His genial charm, his depth for understanding, his vast knowledge, his keen humor have endeared him to the hearts of students and faculty alike. His appreciation of the classics and his enthusiasm for the best in literature have been an inspiration to his English classes. His experiences in the field of journalism and his work on the college publications have made him invaluable to the Journalism students.

His classroom puns, his southern chivalry and his unselfish devotion to Wesleyan have made him the one all Wesleyan looks to as a sympathetic friend. It is fitting, then, in our Style and Beauty edition of the Veterropt, that we dedicate it to one who personifies the style and beauty of our ideals . . . Mr. Howell Gwin.

Mr. Gwin with Howell and May

And from the

We Dedicate

Because she has given to the conservatory, her thoughts, her time, and her personality. Those things might not mean so much if Mrs. Griffin were not the person she is . . . the ever ready twinkle in her eyes, their friendly promise of square play, and conscious justice for all. The strong chin, bearing out the determination she uses in her desire for Wesleyan to have the best, and her courage in persevering. Her ingenious conversational powers and charm make associations with her sheer delight.

CONSERVATORY

Mrs. Anne Frierson Griffin

Explanation of Theme

Wesleyan is style and Wesleyan is beauty. She is pinnafores and long dresses and bright colors. She is little girl charm mingled with grown up sincerity and humor.

But there is more to the style and beauty of Wesleyan than the exterior loveliness of her girls and her campus. Her beauty is beauty of the spirit and beauty of understanding and unselfish friendship.

Her style is clothed with lofty aims and high ideals. Her sophistication and growth tend toward a life of strength and service. Her beauty is within as well as without.

Wesleyan's style is ultra charm, ultra ability and ultra sincerity. Wesleyan's beauty is deep rooted and shining, the beauty of the spirit within.

The president's apartment where the MacPhersons live and Persons Hall where the freshmen live viewed from across the campus.

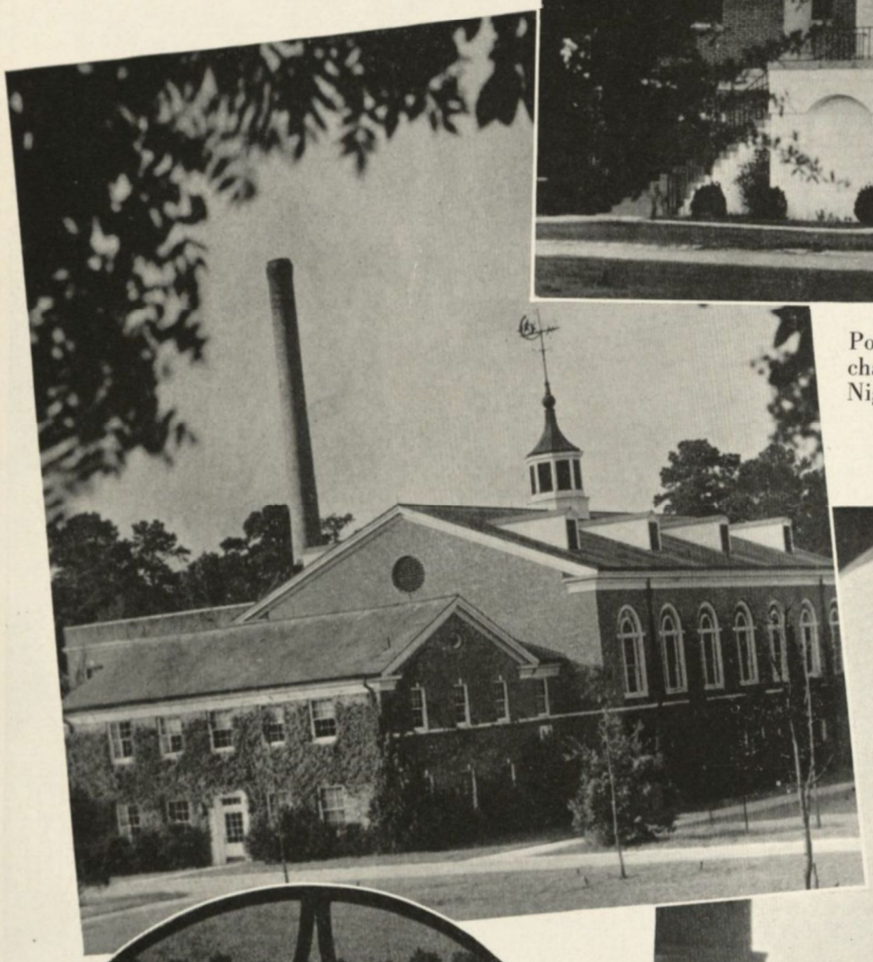

The stately beauty of the Mt. Vernon porch.

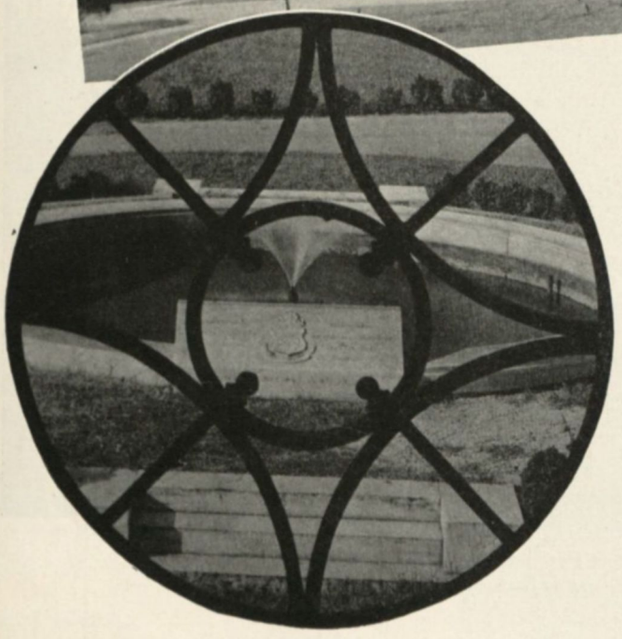

Looking across at Taylor Hall and the Mt. Vernon Porch from the highest hill, we are struck with the quiet beauty that is Wesleyan.

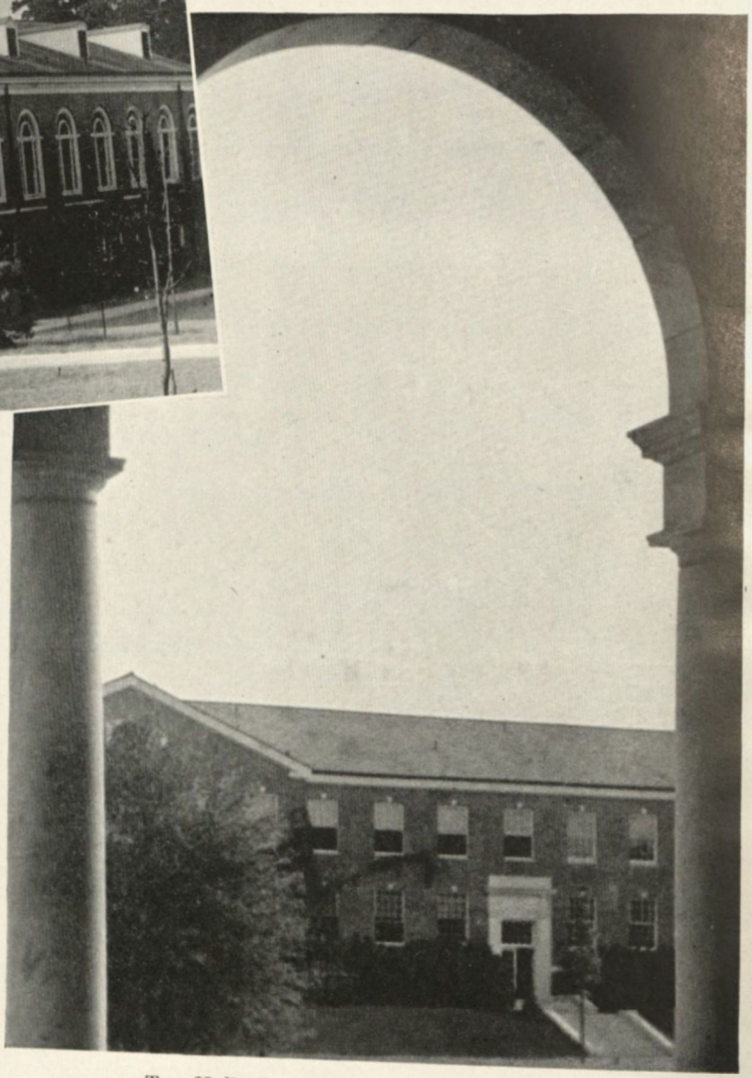

Candler Library where we went to study and where we went to read.

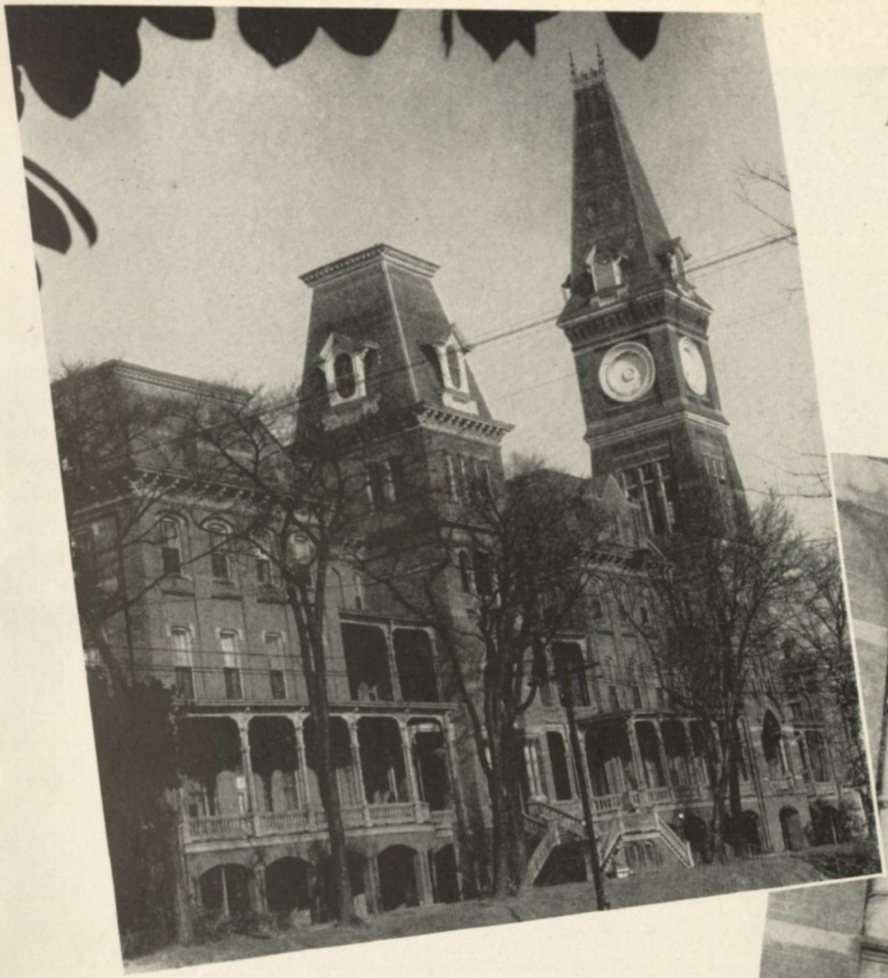

Porter Gymnasium with memories of chapel, Stunt Night, basketball and Play Night, Halloween parties and semi-formal dances.

The A D Pi memorial viewed from the loggia.

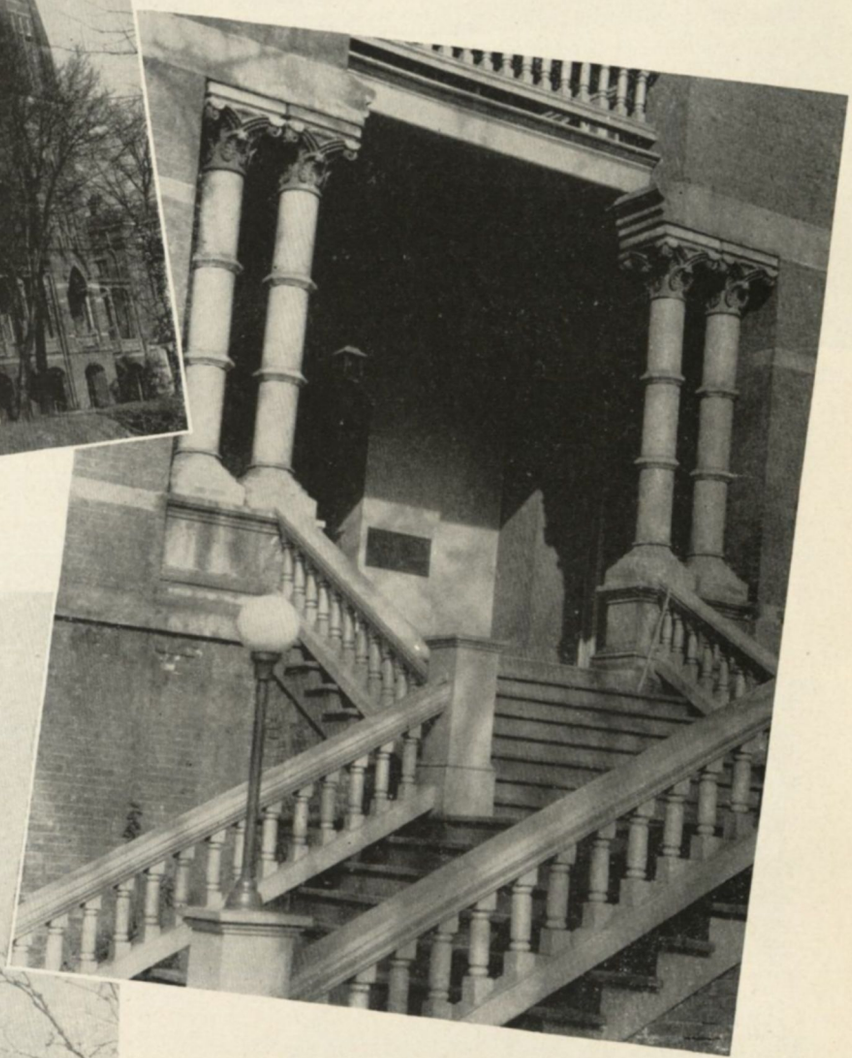

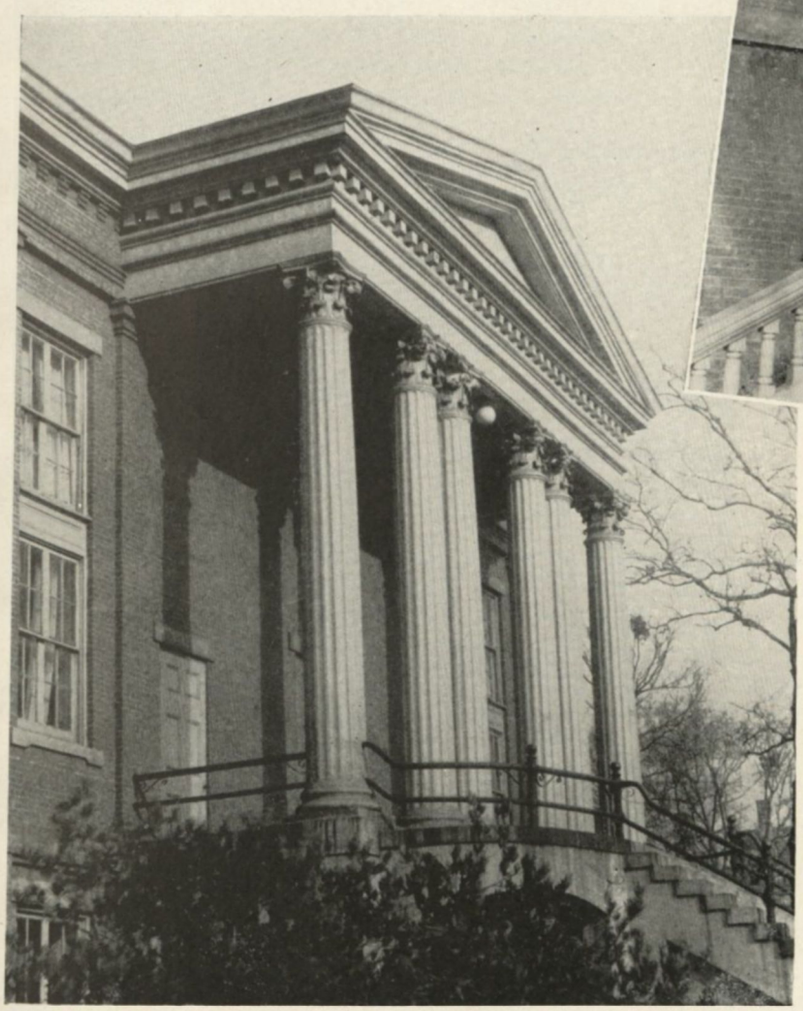

Tate Hall where we went to classes to study the humanities and social sciences.

The Conservatory Chapel which brings memories of plays, concerts, Madame Chaing and graduation.

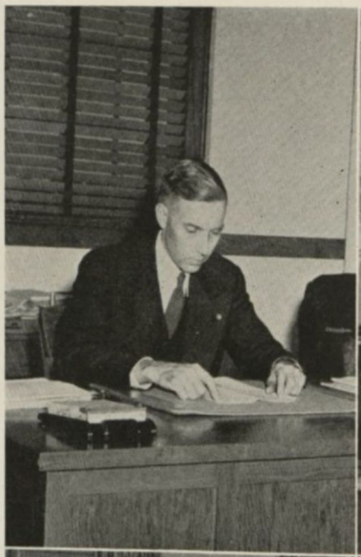

DR. N. C. MCPHERSON, JR.
B.PH., B.D., PhD., D.D.
President

Dr. Mac came to Wesleyan when the seniors were freshmen back in 1942. Since that time under his guidance Wesleyan has reached one of its all-time peaks in enrollment and scholarship. The little man with the friendly grin who is always hurrying somewhere has managed in his four years at Wesleyan to travel hundreds of miles for the school annually and still keep up with all of the leading college activities. As head of the Wesleyan family, Dr. Mac, with the aid of his charming, genial wife, has made college another home for all of the Wesleyan girls.

THE PRESIDENT AND DEANS

DR. S. L. AKERS A.B., B.D., Ph.D.
Every Wesleyanne's friend and counselor, Dean Akers is one of the most popular figures on the Wesleyan campus. His keen sense of fair play, his deep moral values and his sympathetic understanding have endeared him to the hearts of students and faculty members alike.

MISS ANNABEL HORN A.B., A.M.
The Conservatory's staunch and steady defender of the best in the fine arts, Miss Horn is the old college's dignified and capable leader. Her subtle wit, interest in the girls and appreciation of the best in life make her one of the best.

MISS IVA GIESON A.B., M.A.
Her gracious charm, her sincere interest in the girls, her cultured speech and direction have made Miss Gibson an inspiring Dean of Women. She is all of the "charming lady" standards required in a southern school for girls.

MISS DANELLE YATES, ... B.A., M.A.
Miss Yates, the Conservatory's new counselor for women is already popular for her sympathetic understanding of the girls and her wide variety of interests. As a teacher of English and history she comes into contact with almost every girl on the Conservatory campus.

CLASSES

September — One by one the scarlet leaves drift downward.

One by one, from city, from village, from far, from near, come Freshmen to Wesleyan.

The hundreds of new faces they find there seem friendly enough.

Still — so many people! So many individuals! Each like a thread thrown with a lot of other threads of different hues.

But soon the individual is conscious of being a part of a larger plan, of being a member of her class.

The single threads are being woven into a fine pattern that becomes more and more definite. The fibers retain their individuality but are strengthened by the other fibers and in turn add strength to the woven whole. Each day, each week, each year improve the texture of the material, bringing the fibers yet closer together and convincing each fiber of the rare excellence of the piece of which it is a part.

Introducing . . . MISS CLASS OF '46

Meet Miss Class of '46. Serene . . . Sophisticated . . . Suave.

Can this be the same Wesleyanne who, four years ago, showed her spunk to Tri K in a water battle which began as a mass effort to liberate a purple and white dummy hanging from a window of third floor Sophomore? Can this be the Freshman who spent Reading Day making up the nineteen hours of history parallel for Miss Bynum? And who was quarantined along with the whole school because of measles?

Can this be the superior Sophomore who yelled "Dive-bomb" at the Rats? The instigator of bon-fire celebrations the night before Thanksgiving? Stunt Night's little devil who liked the lower level? The swimming champ of '44? The owner of the white dress that served triple duty as hooder's outfit, Hostess's dress at the luncheon for Colonel Hobby, and official attire for Mme. Chiang's visit?

Can this be the Junior who bounced back to Wesleyan in September with such great eagerness and enthusiasm over those upper classman's duties? Who was so very happy when three of the cutest Freshmen asked her to be their big sister? Who dashed in purple shorts to first place in the '44 Soccer tournament? Who gave Wesleyan the first Junior Mrs. and the first Junior Girl of the Year?

Yes, this is she. This is Miss Class of '46 with all of her Senior charm. The charm of knowledge; the charm of certainty. That frolicking high school girl has in four full years become a woman ready for tomorrow. Tomorrow will make strong demands of all the talents Wesleyan helped her to have. But she will meet those demands with a capability that assures a Golden Tomorrow.

Meet . . . MISS JUNIOR CLASS

The Junior steps forth into a third year of college life. She is composure and sophistication, for she really belongs. All of the beauties of Wesleyan's campus, the warmth of red brick and friendships, the dignity of white columns are a part of this class. The Golden Hearts can smile to look back on two stormy college years. In the inevitable first college year we were consciously the largest freshman class ever to enter Wesleyan.

Our spirit on the soccer field brought us a second place in the tournament and we gained second place in swimming. We shall never forget our first Thanksgiving at Wesleyan and the girls of old Tri K who became our big sisters. After our freshman year we went home proud of ourselves and already scheming against a yet unborn freshman class.

In '44 the Golden Hearts came back full fledged Sophomores and despite Webster's definition we became a class with even more spirit and color; we didn't win first that year in soccer and swimming but we were proud of our second places. Sophomores, bobby socks and sloppy joes just seem to go together, to say nothing of pompadours and pearls. In the spring the serious choice of a major subject confronted us and being Psychologically minded, the majority chose subjects in this field. As a perfect ending, a Stunt Night in the form of "Little Orphan Annie" brought us our first trophy, making us certain that we were born actors. Then, before we realized it, we were juniors looking forward to the new Tri K class who would be our little sisters.

This year brought to the Junior class a deepening sense of individual responsibility, a beauty and style tailored by the past two years of college life. The class dug themselves into major subjects, but found time to apply that same fiery spirit which carried them down the soccer field basketball court and swimming pool to a share in the victory. The pompadour and curls were replaced by the flat top and the page boy, the sloppy joes by the chic, tailored suit. After Alumnae Day, when we welcomed back our big sisters, we began plans for the Christmas festivities. Exams and Stunt Night, Watchtower publications, organization activities and little sisters helped us through what proved the best year yet.

Here's MISS SOPHOMORE

A sweater and skirt worn with that special Sophomore flair are outward signs of our new-found importance, yet we can still remember the age-old "where and when's" of our Freshman year. The coming of another Rat Day brought thoughts of the world shaking styles that our class had originated — the daring profile coiffures, the startling leg-o-mutton skirts. That year we at least learned every inch of the campus on which we had to so definitely "submerge."

Our first Homecoming Day brought us third place in soccer and a very special feeling as we serenaded the different classes. We gazed in awe at the alumnae who had overcome all of the things which left us so "beat up." After the Christmas holidays, the unmentionable mid-terms, our basketball team made our spirits jive when they "passed" us right into first place in the tournament. Bing and Frank — and all the other gods snared us a tuneful third place on Stunt Night while we "left the dishes in the sink" and went out to celebrate still another third place landed by our swimming team.

The beginning of our Sophomore year brought a lessening in the size of our class but definitely not in our Rat Day spirit. Strikes made no difference — we just didn't have any labor problem. Aunt Milly finally got an answer to her year old letter and our rooms glared with loads of special Rat clean-up tricks. After Rat Court, however, we all united in one great movement — to bed.

The Knights quickly recovered to win the Soccer Tournament and to make some very special post-war plans for the Christmas Formal. Our Christmas holiday enthusiasm stayed with us when we staked our claims for another basketball victory and were not far disappointed.

We leave looking ahead to having some very special "little sisters" next year.

Now . . . MISS FRESHMAN

Wesleyan — what did it hold for the Freshman class? With this worthy thought in mind, we and our pinnafores arrived — and began to look fearfully around for Sophomores.

At first glance Wesleyan's material beauty was evident — its buildings and breath-taking views. With the very first of the orientation parties, however, we sensed a new kind of beauty — the extreme friendliness of all the Wesleyan girls. They introduced us to every phase of school life — vespers and morning watch, athletics, walks to the cabin, all the rules and regulations of college government, the publications, and dormitory doin's. A very special highlight was the party given by the Juniors and later the choosing of our own "big sisters."

Then came the period of doubt and dread, which was finally broken by the appearance of a long black line of ghouls who dashed across the soccer field and into the gym for "instructions." Rat Day was full of "buttons" and "in here Rats" but nothing could compare to the Rat Race or to our muscles later.

As the soccer season approached we felt that Wesleyan's red brick and white marble could only be a sign foretelling a Freshman success. Our Tri-K spirit led us out to sing Christmas carols and to the "winter white" banquet.

With the help of "pastries!" we somehow got the best of those term papers and began to look forward to the basketball tournament. Lots of practice and a scream of a script bought us cheers on Stunt Night.

After those second exams we knew we were free to plan a sizzling Rat Day of our own and left with fiendish gleams in our eyes.

ORGANIZATIONS

Mutual interests are magnets that draw individuals into various groups.

At Wesleyan such groups have organized so that almost any interest can find an outlet through one of the many clubs or organizations on the two campuses. The clubs provide extracurricular experiences in the lines of self-government, program and activity planning, creative work, and good fellowship. The result of organized effort enriches every day at the Oldest and Best.

GOVERNMENT

The purpose of the College Government Association is to regulate all matters pertaining to the life of the students not under the jurisdiction of the faculty; to increase a sense of individual responsibility; to look to the common good and welfare of each student; to secure the individual loyalty of the students and the faculty, working always for the greater good of Wesleyan College.

Each student is automatically a member of College government and becomes a part of the Honor system which demands that honesty and sincerity govern in academic work as well as in social relationships, and that each individual member maintain the necessary community law to uphold the ideals for which Wesleyan stands.

During Orientation Week members of College Government were here to welcome the new students and to entertain them at a Tacky Party. They sponsored other entertainments and the regular student chapels.

The Wesleyan Y.W.C.A. has as its aim the threefold purpose of enriching campus life by helping its students to develop mentally, spiritually, and physically. Vesper services twice a week and morning watch services each morning supplement the regular chapel programs. Work at the Hepzibah Children's Home, at Macon nurseries, with local negro children and in local hospitals provides an opportunity for active service. Drives for such things as War Bonds are sponsored by the "Y". Religious Emphasis Weeks in October and February bring outstanding student leaders to the campus.

DOT PATTON
Chairman

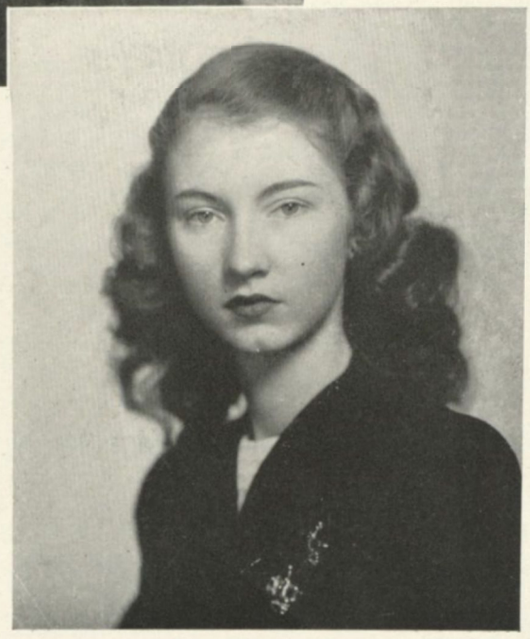

The general duties of the Social Standards Committee are to regulate the social standards of Wesleyan College among both the resident and day students and to determine the calendar of social activities for the campus. The committee published a book this year setting forth the standards which they intend to uphold, cleverly told in the story of Flopsie, Mopsie and Cottontail. The Duffie's Tavern party for the Freshmen was sponsored by Social Standards. They also plan, decorate, and sponsor the Fall and Spring Formals.

The Veterropt tells the story of life at Wesleyan. It has as its purpose the axiom that each student at Wesleyan may have a permanent record of her life here. The 1946 Veterropt has had Style and Beauty at Wesleyan as its theme for this year. With the idea of portraying the styles in leadership, friendship, and sportsmanship and the beauty of the ideals and understanding spirit which stand out on the campus today, the Veterropt seeks to make a lasting record of the life of the Wesleyan girl, style 1946. Although materials and annual supplies are at one of the all time low ebbs this year, the staff has determined to keep up the tradition of Wesleyan and publish a yearbook. With the assistance of Dr. Gin and Mr. Gwin the 1946 Veterropt has come into being.

Margie Burton, staff photographer, Becky Yates, senior literary editor, Lou Matteson, class editor and Ellen Barber, art editor meet to plan lay-outs.

Conservatory Girls Will Participate In Wesleyan Sports

This year for the first time, Conservatory students interested in athletics have been asked to participate in tournaments held on this campus. Sally Bowen, president of the Athletic Association, went to the Conservatory recently and talked to the girls about entering the volley ball tournament. They responded with a team and are now scheduled in the inter-organization meet.

Basketball was also mentioned and girls interested were asked to enter. It will be handled differently, however. The girls will not enter as a team, but come out individually and try out for their class team.

Aside from this, they will be under the same rules of training and practicing as the campus girls. The main rule is that girls must be on eligibility list. The other rules for practice require them to attend a minimum of 4 practices to be eligible to play.

NEW KITCHEN IS MAI OF CONSERVATORY'S

By Helen Aldred

Few "formal openings" succeed in arousing such genuine enthusiasm of all concerned as did that of the student kitchen at the Conservatory. For several years the idea of a kitchen has been one of the fondest dreams of the artists, musicians, actresses, and secretaries-to-be. Professionalism, in any degree, just doesn't completely overshadow that domestic inclination inherent in every member of the weaker sex.

It was way back in '42 when it first seemed that the kitchen might materialize. But it was also about that time that the War was getting into high-gear. Instead of refrigerators and stoves, factories were turning out those B-29's and jeeps. Consequently the idea of a kitchen was pushed to the background; what was to have been the location of the kitchen became the sculpture room.

The long delay, when finally the kitchen was opened, wasn't without its benefit. Instead of having to trudge down to the basement, just a few steps off third floor Main puts you right at the door of what is probably the most popular and most used room in the school—not even excluding the practice rooms. It wasn't hard to see at first glance that somebody had put forth some efforts toward making the kitchen as pleasant in reality as it had been in thought. Joyce Gallegher, who drew up the plans, deserved and obtained sincere approval.

Interest, ability, willingness to work and cooperate — these are the qualifications of every member of the staff of Wesleyan's newspaper, The Watchtower. Combing the campus for news, staff meetings, meeting the deadline, and afternoons at the printers join together to make up the routine life of the staff. The paper this year has been enlarged and the students this year look forward to reading such new features as "Three Years Ago," "Rovin' Reporter," "Club Clippings," and "Pop's Corn." We of the staff express our appreciation to Mr. Howell Gwin, our sponsor, for his help and cooperation. Annual events of the Watchtower year which have a definite place in campus activities are the "Wesleyan-die" contest, the "Girl of the Year" contest, and the annual Watchtower banquet held in the spring.

They have short movies on our Southern neighbors, lectures by visiting speakers and students and open discussions concerning the customs, ideals, education, and politics of these countries. Latin American foods such as Cuban coffee, Guava paste, and Spanish cookies are served at the meetings. At a delightful Latin American dance sponsored by L.A.U.S. the Rhumba, Tango, and Samba were taught. Anyone interested in the club is invited to join. Advisor is Miss Dorothy Thom.

Membership in Scribes, honorary literary society founded in 1920, constitutes the most distinctive honor in the literary world of Wesleyan. Annually in the spring underclassmen who have outstanding excellence in creative writing are honored by Scribes at an impressive Chapel service. The red, blue, and green mingled-yarn which is awarded Scribes at this ceremony is the most coveted literary distinction on the campus.

During the year, Scribes participate actively in campus publications. The Spring issue of THE WESLEYAN is edited by the Scribes and contains only their contributions.

The International Relations Club is an organization whose chief function is to promote interest in and knowledge of the world's nations and their relationship to each other. Programs are designed to stimulate the members' sense of responsibility as world citizens and their awareness of their duties in making peace a permanent reality. Such outstanding speakers as Major Henri Du Pont, French cultural attache, Dr. Stephan Osusky, eminent Czechoslovakian statesman, and Miss Jean McDonald, Bolivian missionary, further these interests. The Wesleyan Club is affiliated with the Georgia Conference of International Relations clubs and the Carnegie Endowment for world peace.

LEAGUE OF

MARJORIE SOULIE
President

"To promote education for citizenship" — this is the purpose of the League of Women Voters. It is particularly anxious to stimulate interest and active participation in local and national government, by bringing to Wesleyannes important information about current issues. Our League at Wesleyan, a unit of the National andGeorgia Leagues, was organized in the spring of 1945 by a small group of interested government students, and has since grown to a membership of almost half a hundred girls. Dr. Sheriff was extremely interested in the formation of the League, and is now its faculty advisor, as well as a member of the governing board. The League has monthly meetings, featuring outstanding speakers from Macon and nearby communities. This year, our problems have included a discussion of the health problems in Georgia, led by a young public health nurse; a visit from Georgia's first woman legislator; and a program on registration, voting, and election information, presented by a group of representatives from Macon's Junior Chamber of Commerce.

To students particularly in terested in government and in current affairs, the League of Women Voters offers an opportunity to become better informed and more capable of participating actively and intelligently in our democratic system of government.

The Glee Club offers its beautiful interpretations at many of the activities on the campus and also presents programs to the people of Macon. This year they sang at a service at the Mulberry Methodist Church, visited the Rotary Club, made a radio broadcast, gave a Christmas concert, a spring concert, and a concert of secular music.

Meetings are held once a week under the expert direction of Mr. Vladimir Zorin. Membership is open to anyone interested. This year the members received Glee Club keys of which they are justifiably proud.

Students who have an outstanding interest in Art and have a semester of credit in an Art course are eligible for membership in the Fine Arts Club. Meetings are held once a month at which interesting lectures are given by informed speakers from throughout the state. Interest in exhibits which come to the college galleries is fostered by the club. Events in music, the dance, the theatre, as well as the graphic are posted on the club bulletin board. Mr. Richard Aldrich is the club's energetic sponsor.

Hi-Lights

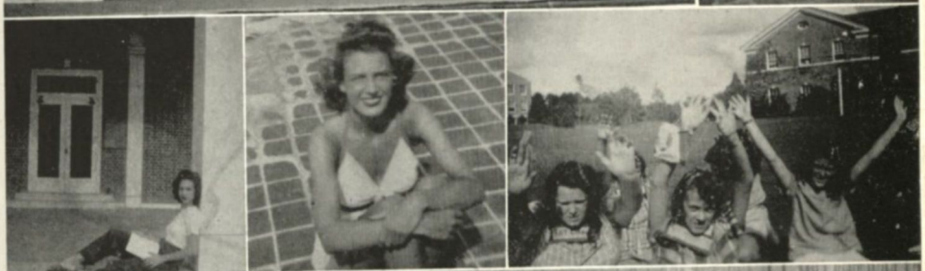

Viewed from the sun porch across the golf course. When freshmen said "Democracy" was just a word. "Katy" goes glamorous across the sun dial. "Midsummer Night's Dream" interpreted by the Speech Department. "Miss Naiad" in her coming out costume. We do take time out to study at Wesleyan.

A sure sign of early March is Lamm on the sun roof. The cruelty of some people! At Wesleyan we never hitchhike! The merry, merry season that was our first peace time Christmas at Wesleyan. "Puck," "Britania" and the "rude mechanicals" in our own version of Shakespeare's comedy drama. A play day for the faculty children when the Copy girl's entertain.

On that cold, cold day in November when the Sophomores were crowned queens of the soccer field. In which the practically minded juniors display their advertising skill. Peeping through the tongs on the weekly visit to the library.

SPORTS

Come on, relax. Slip into some shorts and let a snappy game of tennis untie those knots your mind is in after that chemistry. Maybe you prefer a swim, or maybe the excitement of a soccer game.

These are important parts of Wesleyan life. There are special memories of the fun that games brought. Good health and posture are evidence of their worth. And not of least importance is the spirit of good sportsmanship that the athletic activities emphasize and instill in each player.

ASSOCIATION

Because sports are a vital part of Wesleyan life, the task of the Athletic Association is to give each girl the opportunity to get the most benefit from the athletic program. In its varied activities there is a place for every Wesleyanne.

The Athletic Association Board coordinates the campus athletic activities and fits the details smoothly into place. Every year there are three tennis tournaments, a golf, a ping pong, and a badminton tournament. Class spirit soars in the keen competition of soccer games with the Thanksgiving games deciding the championship. Later in the year class rivalry is renewed in the basketball and volleyball tournaments and a swimming match. The Tennis Club, the Hiking Club, Freshmen Splinters, and Naiads are sponsored by the Athletic Association. Twice each year the association gives a party for the entire student body.

Among its most interesting projects are the annual student-faculty play night and softball games each spring culminating in a student faculty game.

Supported by student loyalty and cooperation "AA" adds vigor to the Wesleyan spirit.

THE TENNIS CLUB

The Tennis Club elects its new members each year on the basis of ability and competitive play in the Fall and Spring Tournaments, at which members of the Tennis Club officiate. During the year, members of the tennis club play each other for positions on their tennis ladder. Each girl challenges a player directly above her. If the challenger wins, she takes the place of her opponent who moves down. At the end of the year, the girls who have the top four positions receive Tennis "W'S".

Membership in the "W" Club is extended those girls who have made 500 points in athletic activity during a school year and received "W"'s. If she makes 500 points the next year, she is presented with a star to be worn on the "W." Her third 500 points are rewarded with a pin. "W"'s are also given to girls making 1500 points on an accumulative basis. These girls referee athletic contests on the campus and promote interest in athletic activity.

And now for the

HIKERS

Members are selected on the basis of form swimming. The club meets once a week, placing special emphasis on form, grace, and rhythm. Miss Milda Cizauskas is sponsor. Each year Naiads present a Christmas and a Spring aquacade. This year's Christmas aquacade depicted a soldier's memories of Christmas.

Thanksgiving Day means soccer to Wesleyan. This year it climaxed two thrill packed weeks in which the four classes participated in one of the most exciting soccer seasons of all time.

In the first game of the 1946 season the seniors were triumphant over the freshman and the sophomores beat the juniors. In the second day series the sophs won an overwhelming victory over the seniors and the juniors romped over their little sisters.

In the Thanksgiving climax the freshman played an outstanding game, but were not strong enough to hold back the mighty sophomore team. The Juniors and Seniors played the most exciting game of the year with the seniors coming out on top.

The Sophomores were the '46 champions with their senior sisters as runner-ups. This year's Wesleyan Soccer Series brought spectators from miles around to witness the first peacetime games in four years.

The SPORTS

Wesleyan may well boast of a wide variety of sports. There is something for every girl and each has her chance to demonstrate her special skill. Swimming, tennis, badminton, hockey, golf, horseback riding, volley ball, ping pong, archery, basketball, softball, bicycling and soccer are all played at Wesleyan.

PARADE

Tournaments are held annually among the classes in basketball and softball. There are also inter-class hockey, volleyball, golf tournaments. The inter-organizational volleyball tournament is one of the features of the year. The tennis, badminton and ping pong tournaments are open to the whole school.

The semi-annual horse shows were postponed this year due to the illness of the riding instructor. Play Night was an athletic feature of the early fall in which the seniors came out on top with the faculty close behind.

SPRING

Spring is outdoor time at Wesleyan. It is then that even the least athletic of us gains new vigor and goes out to enjoy the very special beauty that means Spring at Wesleyan.

Archery, golf, tennis, swimming and softball dominate in the spring. Bicycling gains new popularity and hiking becomes almost a major sport.

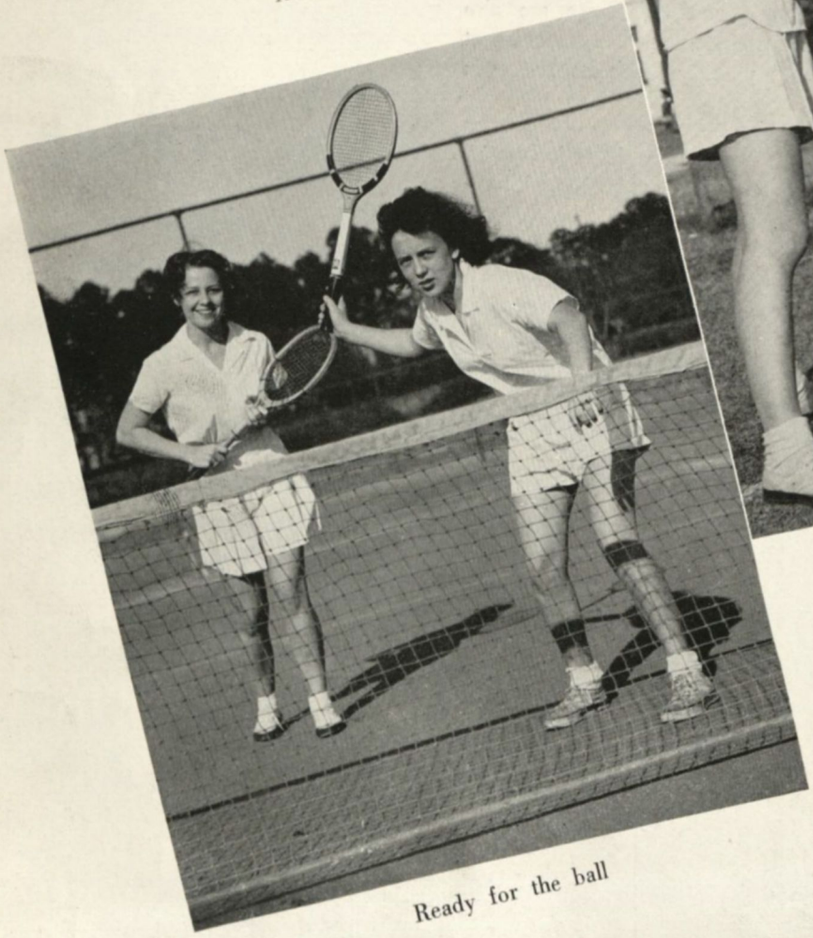

One of the main features of the spring athletic program is the Student-Faculty softball game. Another Spring feature is the Swimming Meet in April.

PHI DELTA PHI

Since 1924, when the faculty recommended to the Board of Trustees that an honor society be established, Phi Delta Phi year after year has grown, including in its membership the few girls who are chosen each year on the basis of academic standing, character, and loyalty to Wesleyan.

Phi Delta Phi is Wesleyan's honor society, and to be a member is to have received the highest scholastic honor that can come to a Wesleyan student.

Who's Who

The Wesleyan girls who will receive national recognition in the 1945-46 edition of WHO'S WHO AMONG STUDENTS IN AMERICAN UNIVERSITIES AND COLLEGES are seniors elected by the student body on the basis of character, scholarship, leadership in extra curricular activities, and potentiality for future usefulness to business and society.

These girls, who will have their biographies printed in this year's editions, have just cause to be very proud. We are very proud to have them represent Wesleyan.
